Video Transcript

When you search Google, your results may include websites, videos, images, or maps.

But you can use Google's filters to target your results to your information needs.

You can click on the News tab to see newspaper & magazine articles

Do you need videos? The video tab will give you links to YouTube, and other video sources.

For photos and other images including Clipart, click on the Images link.

When looking at the results under any tab, you can click on "Search tools" to see more filter options.

For images, for example, you can filter by Color, Type, Time uploaded, Size, and Usage rights.

So remember – look for the filter options above your search results, and use them to track down... the information you need!
